

International Workshop on Woman in Ceramic Science (WoCeram2019)

2019. April 7-9.

Novotel Danube Budapest, Bem rakpart 33-34, 1027 Budapest, Hungary

Researchers are professionals engaged in the conception or creation of new knowledge. Overall, women account for a minority of the world's researchers. Despite the growing demand for cross-nationally-comparable statistics on women in science, national data and their use in policymaking often remain limited.

The aim of this 3 days workshop is to show that the European Ceramic Society boasts with excellent women researchers in the field of ceramic science.

Invited speakers:

Prof. Carmen Baudin
Instituto de Cerámica y Vidrio (Ceramic and Glass Institute), an Institute from CSIC (National Research Council of Spain)
Madrid, Spain

Prof. Monica Ferraris
Science and Technology of Materials at Politecnico di Torino,
Torino, Italy

Prof. Andreja Gajovic
Laboratory for energy conversion materials and sensors
Division of materials physics
Rudjer Boskovic Institute
Zagreb, Croatia

Prof. Lucyna Jaworska
Institute of Advanced Manufacturing Technology, and AGH University of Science and Technology,
Krakow, Poland

Prof. Tanja Lube
Institut für Struktur- und Funktionskeramik
Montanuniversität Leoben
Leoben, Austria

Prof. Ljiljana Damjanovic-Vasilic
Faculty of Physical Chemistry
University of Belgrade
Belgrade, Serbia

Prof. Dr. Filiz Şahin
Metallurgical and Materials Engineering Department
Istanbul Technical University
Istanbul, Turkey

Prof. Barbara Malic
Electronic Ceramics Department, Jožef Stefan Institute,
Ljubljana, Slovenia

The workshop will consist from 8 invited lecturers and some short oral presentations. The important parts of workshop are the round table discussion and poster session.

8 invited lecturers will be decisive women researchers from different European countries from different fields of ceramics. The participants (women and men) will have a possibility to present their research during short oral presentations (duration 10 min.) or poster session.

The round table discussion will be oriented to question "Balance between career and family in the life of young researchers".
